Background:

There is not much information available for Liverpool Head 3. The head was at one point a part of the collection of Dr. Herman Philip and Mrs. Dora Philip in Edinburgh and was acquired by the Liverpool World Museum from Mr. William Crosfield in 1861 (World Museum). The mummified head comes from an adult human and has broken off from the body (World Museum). The bandages which had wrapped the head were removed at some point (World Museum).
